

Steph Weiland has been performing since she was 18, collaborating with various musicians and playing solo gigs. With her guitars and piano, she brings warmth and personality to every set—whether at coffee shops, farmers markets, or special events. Her shows blend music and storytelling, creating an inviting, soulful experience for whoever's listening.